DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election with traverse of claims 13-21 and 24 and 26-30 are acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

3. Claims 13-15, 18, 20-21 and 24, 26-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being unpatentable by Mandelman (US 6,437,401).

Regarding claim 13, Mandelman discloses a structure and method for improved isolation in trench storage cells comprising: a semiconductor substrate (20); an interconnection layer (11 or 15) positioned over the substrate (20); a passive circuit element between the substrate (20) and the interconnection layer (11 or 15); and a trench (30) that encircles the passive circuit element, the trench (30) filled with a conductive material (18 and 19). See figures 2-8, col.6, lines 4-67 to col.11, lines 1-27.

Regarding claim 14, Mandelman discloses the trench (30) substantially encircles the passive circuit element. See figure 2 or 7-8.

Regarding claim 15, Mandelman discloses the material (11 or 15) includes an opening for an electrical connection to the passive circuit element. See figures 2 or 7-8.

Regarding claim 17, Mandelman discloses that, a first (11), second (15) and third (31) interconnection layers, the passive circuit element formed in the second interconnection layer(15) and a pair of metal-filled trenches (30) extending between the first and second interconnection layers (11 and 15) and the third (31) and second interconnection layers (15). See figures 2 or 7-8.

Regarding claim 18, Mandelman discloses the trench (30) extends from the interconnection layer (11 or 15 or 31) to the substrate (20). See figure 2.

Regarding claim 20, Mandelman discloses that, a buried contact which couples the passive circuit element under the material. Col.4, lines 59-67 to col.5, lines 1-12.

Regarding claim 21, Mandelman discloses the material and the interconnection layers are electrically coupled. See figure 2.

Regarding claim 24, Mandelman discloses a structure and method for improved isolation in trench storage cells comprising: a semiconductor substrate (20); an active circuit element formed in the substrate (20); a guard ring (30 or 31) encircling the active circuit element formed in the substrate (20); and a trench (30) filled with a conductive material (11 or 15) coupled to the guard ring (31). See figures 2-8, col.6, lines 4-67 to col.11, lines 1-27.

Regarding claim 26, Mandelman the metal one layer (11 or 15 or 31) over the substrate (20), the material (18 or 19) electrically coupled to the guard ring (31 or 30) and the metal one layer (31). See figure 2.

Regarding claims 27-29, Mandelman discloses that, the guard ring (110) completely surrounds the active circuit element or trench (30) completely surrounds the active circuit element or an active circuit element includes a transistor. See figures 2-8, col.6, lines 4-67 to col.11, lines 1-27.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 16, 19 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over by Mandelman (US 6,281,583).

Regarding claims 16 and 30, Mandelman discloses the claimed invention except for the passive circuit element is a flat spiral inductor or the active circuit element is enclosed in a shield over the substrate. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to have a flat spiral inductor or enclosed in a shield over the substrate, since applicant has not disclosed that the a flat spiral inductor t or the active circuit element is enclosed in a shield over the substrate solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with the passive circuit element is a flat spiral inductor or active circuit element is enclosed in a shield over the substrate.

Regarding claim 19, Mandelman discloses the claimed invention except for the material is grounded. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to ground, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Wong. (US 6,455,915); Kubota et al. (US 6,445,026); Quek et al. (US 6,252,290); Yuan. (US 6,407,441) are cited to show the integrated circuit.
